Edgerly Home Is Damaged By Fire

Fire resulting in $2,000. damage broke out in John Edgerly's home on Exeter road Monday afternoon about 1.30 and it was only the prompt arrival of the Newmarket Fire department with its three trucks manned by 20 firemen who saved the home from complete destruction.

Fire Chief J. Fred Lavallee claimed the fire originated in a bedroom on the lower floor where an oil stove exploded. Smoke damage was extensive throughout the first floor where several rooms were freshly papered and painted and new draperies hung. The fire itself was confined to the room where it originated although the

Newmarket One Of Many Asking School Building

Over 80 communities in New Hampshire are planning new school buildings or additions, Architect Irving Hersey told Newmarket voters who gathered at the Town Hall last Thursday night to learn more about the new school wing on which they will vote at the School District Meeting Monday, Mar. 15. The plans for the proposed wing were displayed and explained.

School Committeeman James B. Griffin presided and explained that the new gymnasium-auditorium wing is planned as a living memorial to the local veterans of World War II and will be available for community as well as school functions.

Newmarket has never received federal aid in the past," Mr. Griffin explained because the town did not plan projects which warranted federal aid. Federal aid is again in the offing and launching of these plans will entitle this town to its share, aid available only through standardized high school programs, it was explained.

Supt. of Schools Arthur Danielson stressed his interest in boys and girls in his strong plea for the proposed wing planned to give boys and girls greater advantages. The shop program where automobile repair, sheet metal, electrical and allied subjects can be taught will offer more incentive to boys to remain in school, the superintendent brought out. At present 20 percent of the pupils continue their studies after graduation and 80 percent never have further formal education and this program is aimed to meet this need of the great majority, it was pointed out.

Supt. Danielson touched on the Taft-Toby bill now being favorably considered entitling schools with required equipment an allowance

CDA Anniversary Banquet May 19th

Court Fr. Hector A. Benoit, CDA, will hold its second anniversary banquet Wednesday night, May 19, in St. Mary's hall according to plans made Monday evening at the March meeting. Grand Regent Mary Labranch presided. Outstanding speakers and special music will make up the program on this occasion for the CDA members and their guests.

A plan to aid the Newmarket Municipal playground was discussed and Mrs. Beatrice Geoffrion and Mrs. Doris Mullen were named a committee to meet with the Civic department to outline the idea of cooperating.

A reception for the Sisters of Holy Cross was planned for the April meeting, Monday, Apr. 5. Mrs. Geoffrion is chairman of the entertainment and refreshments for this evening.

A penny sale was enjoyed and refreshments served from a table decorated in green and white with shamrocks predominating.

ALL INTEREST FOCUSES ON TOWN MEETINGS TUESDAY

Town Problems Discussed At Preview Meeting

Durham — Eight days before Town Meeting, the Durham League of Women Voters gave a thorough airing to the most important articles in town and school warrants here Monday night, and also provided four candidates for selectman with an opportunity to answer questions and explain their platforms to some 70 voters of the town.

The open meeting, billed as a "Preview of Town Meeting" was held at the home of Mrs. Harry H. Hall, and the program was in charge of Mrs. John B. Davis, Jr.

Mrs. Heman Fogg, a member of the School Board, discussed some of the problems facing the board, revealing, among other things, that the board almost had a teacher strike on its hands in January.

The controversy, Mrs. Fogg said, arose from objections by the teachers to staying at school during the noon hour. At one point, she said, the situation reached the point where the teachers asked the board what would happen if they refused to remain at the school at noon. A schedule under which teachers remained at the school one day out of eight finally solved the problem according to Mrs. Fogg.

Mrs. Fogg also discussed the school lunch arrangement, pointing out the possibility that federal subsidization of the hot lunch program may soon end.

Mrs. Fogg expressed a belief that building of a Durham High School was out of question at the

Ronald Rousseau Leap Year Baby

Newmarket has a Leap Year baby. Ronald Andrew Rousseau was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Rousseau of 7 Spring street Sunday afternoon, February 29, at 4.30 p.m. in the Exeter hospital. He weighed seven pounds, seven and a half ounces.

His mother is the former Lorette Leblanc, daughter of Barth Leblanc of Elder street, and the child's paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rousseau of Spring street.

Grange to Discuss Town Warrant Friday

Durham—Scammel grange will hold a whist party this evening at 8 o'clock in the grange hall. The regular meeting is scheduled for Friday night when the third and fourth degrees will be worked on a class of candidates. The literary program will center around a discussion of the Town Warrant.

Firemen Claim Their Request Economy Move

The Newmarket Fire department which is asking for the fire damaged Primary school and the sum of $24,000. at the rate of $2,000. annually to reconvert it into a firehouse, points with pride to its record of economy over the past 18 years. During this period, the firemen have kept below the money appropriated them by the town, and at the same time the Board of Engineers have continually built up the department to a point where it has always met every emergency it faced.

This has meant the addition of new equipment which is now so crowded into the present small, wet quarters that it is not readily available for use. This equipment, all of which is considered a necessity and which could not be done away with, includes, first the Ford Pumper, a demonstrator which saw hard usage before coming to Newmarket and which needed replacing.

The Chevrolet truck was bought next, replacing the Packard truck which rusted out before it wore out. The town bought the whistle and the fire department installed it with no labor charges. In 1940, the furnace replaced the pot bellied stove. A resuscitator which has already saved two lives is now ready for anyone who needs emergency oxygen.

The town shingled the firehouse in 1943 and the last major addition

Mr. Fellows Dies Suddenly of Heart Attack in Maine

Funeral services for Urban Fellows, former proprietor of Rockingham Country club died suddenly at his home in Auburn, Me. last week, were held Saturday, his local friends learned with grief this week. He recently returned from Orlando, Fla., where he flew to visit his mother, Mrs. Gertude Langley. The day he was stricken with a heart attack he had just returned from business in Manchester.

He was employed by the Hoague-Sprague Box company in Lynn, Mass. and commuted to his home in Auburn, Me. each weekend. He came to Newmarket several years ago and built the house where Robert Shaw and his family now live. He ran a restaurant here and later built the dance hall and the golf course. When the main road cut off his property he took over the Rockingham Country club and ran a dining room which attracted patronage from many towns.

Three Contests Appear So Far Caucus Monday

Three contests appeared in the Democratic party Wednesday night when its members met at the Town Hall to set up a slate of candidates for the Democratic caucus Monday night. There is another meeting Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock and it is entirely possible that more names will be added then.

Arthur Beauchesne and Kenneth "Red" White formally declared themselves as candidates for selectman. Lewis P. Filion whose term expires was nominated and declined.

Romeo Loiselle, William J. Murphy and Harold Mastin are candidates for tax collector, a position left vacant by the withdrawal of John Kustra.

Walter Webster declared himself a candidate for town treasurer.

Andrew Kruezek is running against Harold Lang for Road Agent on South Side. Alex Pelletier is unopposed on North Side.

John Kustra and Lewis Filion were nominated as delegates to the Democratic convention. Five men were named to a Democratic Town committee: Jack Jordan, John Kustra, Romeo Loiselle, Robert Rousseau, Albert Sewall.

Amateur Bouts Attract Many To Exeter Hall

Three Newmarket boys "showed their wares" in the amateur boxing bouts sponsored by the Exeter American Legion in the Legion hall at a smoker Monday night. John Jordan proved that basketball is not the only sport in which he can score and his heavier opponent seemed glad when the rounds came to an end. Arthur Beauchesne and Gerard Langlois gave interesting accounts of themselves.

The Exeter American Legion, realizing the value of clean boxing both to the contestants and as a drawing card for the public (they had 1,500 people in the hall), is conducting these shows for amateurs who do not even receive their expenses but who are given an opportunity to meet boys of equal experience.

The bouts were well handled, run off without delays and each contestant was well informed about when he would appear. Exeter men expressed an eagerness to cooperate with Newmarket in arranging competitive teams. All proceeds from these smokers are being set aside for an Exeter boys' club.

LYNN SAYS:

Tips on Yeast Breads

Rising time on bread or rolls usually follows this pattern: Dough made with one cake of yeast and two cups of liquid will take three hours to rise. Each subsequent rising takes less time.

Rising may be hastened by using more yeast. However, not more than two cakes of yeast should be used in the average recipe for fear of giving too much yeast flavor.

Sugar is yeast food and it also gives flavor to bread. Too large amounts retard the yeast growth.

Sour, heavy bread is caused by too high temperature during the rising time.

Crisp crusts on bread are made by brushing the top with slightly beaten egg white 10 minutes before the baking. This also will give a browner crust.

Soft crusts can be achieved by brushing with melted fat just before baking.

If the dough has not risen enough, place in a moderate rather than a hot oven to bake.

Slow rising is the most desirable in the long run as it brings out the best flavor of the product.

Milk, potato water or just plain water may be used as a liquid in yeast dough.

If you want to keep the bread moist, use a little bit of mashed potato in the dough.

Shortening makes bread tender but it discourages the yeast growth.

Large holes in bread are caused by too long a rising period.

Dry yeast keeps longer than fresh yeast but it must be kept in a cool dry place.

Excavators Discover Hoard of Gold Coins

Buried Wealth Found at Site Of New School Building.

MONTEREY, CALIF.—Hundreds of men, women and children were "prospecting" with shovels, rakes, trowels, knives, forks and even old mining tools in a gold rush that swept Monterey.

The "bonanza" is located in a 100-by-100-foot school excavation site, only two blocks from the main street of this historic California city.

It's not nuggets the "prospectors" are after, but $20 gold coins. Already more than 125 of the coins have been dug up by the treasure-seekers. Their nominal value is more than $2,500, but they are worth considerably more because the coins are collectors' items.

One of the $20 pieces, dated 1895, has a catalog value of $60. Most of the coins thus far discovered were minted between 1890 and 1900 and nearly all are in excellent condition.

The coins were buried in the lot nearly half a century ago by Will H. Martin, wealthy Monterey property owner who died in 1913.

The modern-day gold rush began after the first coin of the cache was found by Damon Burgess, employee of a construction company excavating the site for a new music school building. The word got around town swiftly and the rush was on.

One of the first to reach the scene was a man with a bulldozer which immediately clawed 15 of the coins out of the earth.

Martin's nephew, Carmel Martin, former Monterey mayor, bought out a hardware store in order to provide digging tools for the amateur prospectors and presided over the treasure hunt.

Bandit Is Just a 'Crumb';

Waitress Proves Her Point

DETROIT.—Mrs. Imogene Corretta, 38, waitress in a local restaurant, brushed off a would-be bandit as she might have flicked a bread crumb off the counter, holdup squad officers said.

A man strode into the restaurant, right hand threateningly in his overcoat pocket in the approved manner. He announced boldly, "This is a stickup."

Mrs. Corretta pretended not to hear him.

"Open the cash register," the desperado blustered.

Mrs. Corretta ignored him.

The "bandit" reached across the counter and started to open the till himself.

Mrs. Corretta calmly rapped him across the back of his hand with the dull edge of a large butcher knife and the toughie yelped and fled.

WICHITA, KAN.—Police investigating the plight of a woman who had eked out a meager livelihood by laundering the clothing of other residents of a third-rate hotel found some $20,000 among her belongings.

The woman, Mrs. Joyce Leed, told police "I've been living this way because I'm afraid I would be killed if some people knew I had this much money and bonds."

Bank's Burglar Alarm Cries

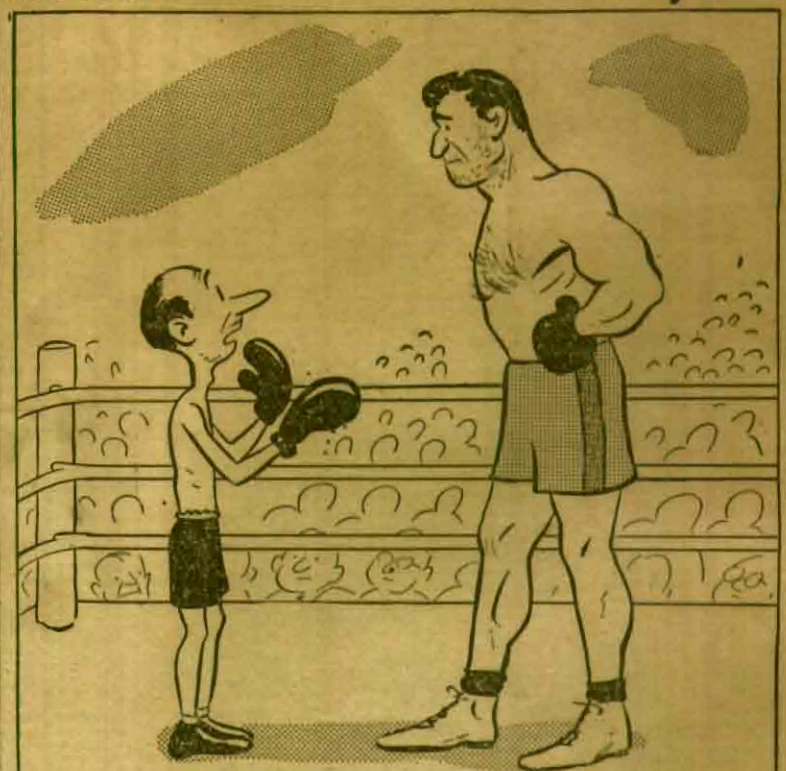

Wolf Too Often; Police Moan

HOLLISTER, CALIF.—The burglar alarm at the local Bank of America branch has gone off so many times lately — because of short circuits — that Hollister's police mention it in the same breath with the old "cry wolf" fable.

Lest any itinerant safe-blowers get the wrong idea, Chief of Police Roy McPhail has told his policemen publicly that they're still to head for the bank on the double when the alarm sounds, even if it's just to call bank officials to "turn the thing off."

Many Ask Buildings

of $5. to $10. per pupil federal aid for instructional purposes. State aid is substantially greater than in the past, too, for schools able to take advantage of it, it was pointed out.

Architect Hersey explained the details of the proposed building with its gymnasium large enough for future needs and an all around activities room. He quoted an estimate made another town for a similar building as $159,000. to $166,000. feeling it unfair to make a definite estimate for this building in the face of changing prices. The school warrant asks for $154,000. to build and equip this wing.

The fact that this large auditorium would undoubtedly be the place where Town Meetings would be held, as similar auditoriums are used in other towns, was brought out and the fact that money spent through the school department will be less of a burden because of the available state and federal aids not available to towns, was emphasized.

Headmaster Andrew Crooker stressed the vocational program the new wing would make possible for boys, a side of school work he believes is lagging in Newmarket for the girls have domestic science and commercial training while the boys have not vocational subjects.

During the question period, the cost of the building to the taxpayer and the need for better facilities for the lower grades, too, was brought out. The present primary school on the hill will be repaired and the present plans call for housing the fifth and sixth grades in the High school eventually, the speakers explained.

Preview Meeting

present time, owing largely to the cost to taxpayers who are already feeling the effects of a rapidly rising tax rate. Also she pointed out, at least 200 students are needed for a satisfactory high school and Durham now has only 100 students of high school age.

However, she pointed out, there is a possibility of a consolidated high school with Lee, Madbury and Barrington, and an article calling for discussion of this possibility appears in the school warrant.

Mrs. Winston D. Evans explained her reasons for circulating a petition calling upon the school district to vote upon a new kindergarten. Discussion of the kindergarten centered around its cost, and Mrs. Fogg reported the belief of the superintendent that $2,600 would be required to start it.

Mrs. Robert G. Webster then read letters from the four candidates for selectman, explaining their views. The candidates, Albert D. Littlehale, W. Martin Delbrouck, Leon Crouch and John C. Tonkin were all present.

Mr. Littlehale commented in his statement on the increased cost of running the town and on the problem of assessments.

Mr. Delbrouck urged the clearing of all town activities through a central point, either the selectmen or a superintendent of public works, provided the town authorized appointment of such a full time employee. He also called for improvement in present methods of assessment, and urged creation of the office of "town secretary."

Mr. Tonkin suggested three possible improvements in town government: 1. Changes in accounting and reporting; 2. Mechanical changes in caring for town equipment; 3. Investigation and examination of property valuations.

Mr. Crouch promised the application of business knowledge and experience to the conduct of the business affairs of the town.

In an elaboration of his views on assessment procedures, Mr. Delbrouck later urged that a system of classifying property in the town be adopted. Under such a system, he pointed out, sale price of any property on an inflated market would not affect its assessment for tax purposes.

Mr. Littlehale pointed out that present assessment procedures were suggested by the State Tax Commission which recommended the price paid by a willing buyer to a willing seller as the basis for valuations.

Mrs. Davis then conducted a discussion on the most important articles in the town warrant, pointing particularly to an article calling for creation of the office of a superintendent of public works to work directly for the board of selectmen.

She pointed also to an article calling for appropriation of $500 to buy a lot in a central location for a community building.

The meeting was also informed that demands upon University facilities would make it impossible to provide manual training in University buildings in the future, and that this training would be given in the local school next year.

Mrs. Thomas O. Marshall gave an objective report on the names of candidates for delegate to the national conventions.

A business meeting preceded the program, with the President, Mrs. M. M. Smith, presiding. Reports of all committee, except the legislative committee headed by Mrs. Francis Robinson, were waived.

The club's annual meeting will be held March 15 at the Community House.

The two Salvation Army representatives are Frederick Moore and Frank W. Ranstrom. Both bear credential letters.

The quota for Newmarket is $750 for this annual effort and as both these men as well as Mr. Churchill, point out, the cooperation of all residents is vital to the success of the appeal.

Brothers Moore and Ranstrom stated that it would aid immeasurably for all who wish to participate in the appeal to forward their contributions to the Treasurer, Fred J. Durell, New Market National bank.

Edgerly Home Damaged

firemen feared for a time it was going beyond this point.

This room was a complete loss as well as the furniture and the clothing in the draws and closets. Three other rooms and their contents on that side of the house were ruined by smoke including an over stuffed living room set. The house and furnishings were covered by insurance.

The family heard the explosion and Miss Mildred Edgerly phoned for help. James Grant, six year old youngster who sleeps in the room where the fire started, had not yet gone to his crib for a nap. Mrs. Mary Edgerly and Mrs. Flora Gordon were at home, but no one was injured by the explosion or fire. The all out signal came just 45 minutes after the first call.

Firemen Claim Economy

was the Seagrave pumper which has been invaluable.

The question of cost is frequently brought up, the firemen say and they believe the sum of $24,000. they are asking is in line with their record of economy. They believe this sum is less than would be needed for a new building erected now, or for quarters in a municipal building.

"We are asking support," the firemen said this week, "so that we can adequately preserve the equipment of the fire department thus saving you money for replacing it and settling this firehouse question in our lifetime."

Seek Increase For Crippled Children's Work

While no individual quotas have been set for cities or towns, the New Hampshire Society for Crippled Children and Handicapped Persons seeks a 25 percent increase in contributions in its 1948 Easter Seal Campaign, which opens February 28.

This increase, over 1947 expenditures of $76,000, is required to match the increase in the Society's 1948 budget, it was announced today by Minnie A. Moore, town chairman of Lee.

This year's budget has had to be increased to some $92,000 because of the increased demand for the Society's services and the expansion of its several programs.

These programs include a state-wide medical-social service, which provides medical, surgical and hospital care, as well as wheelchairs, braces and other orthopedic appliances for the needy handicapped.

Home Sewing Trends

Home dressmaking has increased greatly in recent years, but the increase seems to be in women's rather than children's clothes, say clothing specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The demand for patterns for children's clothes is slow compared to that for women's dresses and other garments, pattern companies report. Apparently, women are finding that they save more money by sewing for themselves rather than for their children. The time and labor required for making a child's dress often is about the same as that for a woman's dress, but more money is saved by making the latter.

This trend, the specialists believe, makes it more necessary than ever that readymades suit children's needs in comfort, convenience in dressing and wearing, durability and washability.

Folk Sayings Of The Great Bay Region

by ELLA SHANNON BOWLES

For weeks now the weather has been the chief subject in the news and general conversation. It has topped national affairs and state events. But interest in the weather is by no means a new thing. Weather conditions have been vital to man's well being ever since he built his first crude shelter and tried to till his primitive garden patch. Our everyday speech is rich with proverbs and folk sayings about the weather, especially about the signs of rain and drought, winds and snow.

Mrs. Cass Adams of Adams Pt. has collected many of the weather sayings of the Great Bay region. Here are a few included in her list:

If the first of July, it be rainy weather, 'twill rain more or less for four weeks together. Full moon and clear red sunset one fair day. If you can hang a powder horn on the moon there will be fair weather. Rain before seven, clear before eleven. Between twelve and two you can tell what the day will do. Fog on the hills, more water for the mills. A cold wet May, a barnful of hay. When the fog goes up the mountain hoppin', then the rain comes down the mountain droppin'.

One of the best known weather sayings has a number of variants. Many of us know it in this form: Red at night, sailors delight; red in the morning, sailors take warning. Mrs. Ada Hamilton of Durham has given us this variant: Evening red and morning gray is the sign of a beautiful day; evening gray and morning red will bring down rain upon man's head. H. M. Poynter of Durham Point has contributed a weather sign that is not so well known: Fly in your eye, the sky will cry; and from Mrs. Albion Hodgdon of Durham, the descendant of a line of sea-faring folk, comes: Mackerel sky and mare's tails, make tall ships carry low sails.

Do you know other weather sayings of this region? If so, please sent them to the Editor, Great Bay Pilot, Newmarket, N. H.

On Second Thought

Wife—John, will you match a piece of silk for me on your way home from the office?

Husband—Oh, do you mean at the counter where that very beautiful blonde works? The girl with the big soulful . . .

Wife—On second thought, I won't bother you. It's not fair for me to ask you to do errands for me after your long day's work

Granite State Homemaker THREE BUGBEARS

Buttons, buckles and belts are common bugbears in dry cleaning. Because of the way these three clothing items are made, many cannot be cleaned by any method. Thus, they cause much damage to clothing and much misunderstanding among customers and cleaners.

In making cloth-covered buttons, manufacturers often paste the cloth to the button with a dark brown or black glue. This dark substance dissolves in cleaning fluid and discolors not only the button but also the dress fabric around it. Some buttons are colored with a dye that "runs" from the steam of pressing, making a stain on the dress that cannot be removed. Some plastic buttons dissolve in cleaning fluid, becoming so soft that they smear and stain the fabric of the dress.

The dry cleaning industry has worked with plastic manufacturers to find out which plastics will withstand cleaning. Recently many buttons of uncleanable plastic have been eliminated but, unfortunately, some are still being used on clothing and causing cleaning troubles.

Buckles also give trouble to cleaners, especially those which are cloth-covered or of uncleanable plastic.

As for belts, most of them on readymade dresses cannot be cleaned. Very often the fabric is pasted to the back of the belt by an adhesive which loosens in the cleaning fluid. Then the belt comes apart or is discolored. Wet cleaning is not safe either because the backing often is imitation leather which is ruined by water.

"Cleaners have had to solve the problem by just not cleaning belts," one dry cleaner explained. "It seems a shame that expensive gowns, well made in every other detail, should have belts that cannot be cleaned by any method."

One belt manufacturer recently has developed a belt that can be either washed or cleaned. It carries a label on the under side near the buckle which says: "Guaranteed to launder or dry clean."

Clothing specialists agree that women generally need to understand dry cleaning problems and practices so that they will demand clothes that can be cleaned successfully.

About two-third to three-fourths of the world's 4 billion acres of potential crop land was being cropped before the war.

Bay Smelting poor Fishermen Report

Smelting is still poor in the Bay according to reports received this week. The "hookers", those sportmen who fish from shanties on the ice, were disappointed in the heavy snow of the weekend which kept them at home.

The fishermen around the Watson farm reported practically nothing, claiming the weather is still too cold, the wind too high and the snow too deep for smelting. The Electric Light company has been running the wheel sending a great rush of fresh water into the bay, which has scattered the fish, too, they claimed.

There is an occasional eel speared by some men who particularly hanker for this delicacy, but the ice is too thick to chop for many eels. Fishing is poor in Exeter, too, the men report.

MRS. COKER GIVEN FAREWELL PARTY

Mrs. Leola Coker who will leave soon for Nebraska was given a farewell party recently at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Jordan and was presented a pocket book in the course of the evening. Whist was enjoyed with prizes going to Mrs. Flossie Hamlin, high scorer; Mrs. Lea Goodreau, 2; Mrs. Louise Steward, low.

A buffet lunch was served. Other guests present were Mrs. Eva Latour, Mrs. Bernadine Sawyer, Mrs. Helen Clow.

WHAT'S HAPPENING TO YOUR BILLIONS

Government figure jugglers who keep their fingers on the nation's money pulse reported this week:

The high cost of living is forcing out of hiding nest-eggs of cash buried in socks and mattresses.

Despite living costs, Americans added $9,000,000,000 to savings last year, pushing the total to $155,700,000,000.

The amount of money "in circulation"—that is not accounted for in banks—fell more than $1,000,000,000 during the month after Christmas, a record drop in so short a time. The total was still more than $28,000,000,000.

Resin Stains

Removing resin stains from woolen ski clothes frequently perplexes New Hampshire ski enthusiasts. However, this resin should be removable with any reliable dry cleaner.

Sponging with carbon tetrachloride, taking care not to apply too much at one time and repeating the process as often as necessary until the stain disappears, should prove satisfactory. Or the garments may be sent to any reputable dry cleaner.

Patent Protection

Cracks in patent leather shoes often are caused by putting on shoes while they are cold and stiff. Clothing specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture advise warming shoes by rubbing with the palm of the hand before wearing. This is especially important when shoes are new. Before wearing the first time, rub the leather until well warmed, then put on, and bend the feet to limber the shoes while the surface is still warm.

The common practice of rubbing grease into patent leather to prevent cracks is a mistake. Grease is likely to soften the patent finish and cause it to break.

To clean patent leather, wipe with a cloth moistened in vinegar.

By George!

"Dorothy," remarked father, frowning across the breakfast table at his comely daughter, "how many times have I warned you not to entertain more than one beau at a time in the parlor? Last night I could distinctly hear two young men talking down here."

"Oh, no, father," rejoined Dorothy, "those weren't two boys—that was just George—his voice is changing."

Dr. Bowring comes to New Hampshire from Washington, D.C., where he has been economist in the food division of UNRRA since 1944. Last year he served as chief of UNRRA's food division in Czechoslovakia. Dr. Bowring was born in Shropshire, England, and studied at the University of Manitoba, University of Alberta and Iowa State college. From 1938 to 1941 he served as an economic analyst for the Canadian Department of Agriculture, working on surveys and studies of land classification, farm management and marketing.

MUNICIPAL COURT

Leo Roy was found guilty of "driving so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public" in Newmarket Municipal Court Monday morning at 10 o'clock before Judge George R. Scammon of Exeter. He appealed the decision through his attorney, Robert Shaw of Newmarket, and was ordered to post a bond for $200. for appearance in the April term of Superior Court.

The charge grew out of an accident February 20th when Mr. Roy was in collision with a car driven by Jack Recorde on Elm street at the intersection of Nichols avenue. Atty. Wyman Boynton of Portsmouth, Rockingham County solicitor, prosecuted the case. Judge Scammon found Mr. Roy guilty, assessed him $25. and cost of $13.82.

$300,000 Skimobile Hauls Skiers to Mountain Top

Persons who ski down the slopes of Mount Cranmore in New Hampshire are carried up from the town of North Conway on a $300,000 transportation system, the costliest installation of its kind in this country, says Collier's. Its equipment comprises 180 little single-seated cars, spaced about 50 feet apart and connected to an endless cable, which ascend on one track and descend on another.

Trips to the top of this 5,200-foot Skimobile, as it is called, require less than ten minutes and cost 75 cents.

ANOTHER STORY FROM THAT WISCONSIN GIRL, WHAT DETERMINATION!

AS PEGLER SEES IT

Experts in Foreign Policy

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

A CINCINNATI paper has devoted an editorial to the subject of my competence in matters of foreign policy, which it finds hardly comparable to that of General Marshall, Senator Vandenberg and "the various other men in both parties who have made a complete and prayerful study of the terribly intricate business of foreign policy."

I am not "among the world's most noted statesmen" nor even "among the renowned students of world diplomacy and military tactics," but nevertheless I "took note of various developments in our campaign to contain Soviet expansionism and depicted them all as incitements to war."

Now may I be permitted to say something? Just whom do they, or you, have in mind who is qualified to make a foreign policy that would keep our country out of war with Russia or any combination of enemies?

We have had some great scholars in the last 31 years and yet they have led us into two world wars already and we are in danger of being blown into a third one. It takes no great genius to get a country into war.

That third world war, if I may be permitted an opinion, would be the end of us as the Republic of the United States of America. If the Russians didn't obliterate New York, Philadelphia and Washington and all the heavy industrial centers of our East and Midwest, they would break our economic and/or financial system. Then we would go into an American version of the anarchy that has been common in much of Europe since 1917 and 1918. Emerging, we would be either fascist or communist.

Guard for A-Bomb

In their rough outlines, I know the precedents as well as anyone. I know the American people better than most others do, because, for many years, I have moved around more. I hope nobody is going to say that Roosevelt knew them—us—better.

Well, in a way he did, and that's a fact.

If the Russians ever do let us have the atom bomb I probably won't even know what happened, but neither will the rest of them—us.

Now I suppose I am being naive in taking on this way about the atom bomb. But I know some generals who are just George Spelvin, American, under their soldier suits who almost cry over the base indifference of the Americans to the danger of sudden war from the air. Better spend the money for the planes and men and assure ourselves a chance, I say, than save it and be caught like sitting ducks.

Who are our experts in statesmanship, world diplomacy and military tactics?

Training for Leaders

General Marshall was educated at V.M.I., which is about a junior-college, at a time when the smell of war still hung over the fields around. His foreign experience in the Philippines as a second lieutenant may be thrown out as just a camping trip. He was a fine administrative officer under Pershing in the first big war, and Pershing liked him so well that Marshall was invited to negotiations and scraps with the British, French and Italians. That was good learning.

He served three years in China, as a regimental soldier, not a statesman, mind you, and didn't make buck-general until 1936. All his larger experience has come since 1938 and throughout this experience he has been compromised by his subordination to the great statesman whose crowning achievement was Pearl Harbor.

What kind of statesmen and diplomats were working for our side?

Vandenberg is a respectable patriot who went to high school and the "law department of the University of Michigan," according to Who's Who. I take it that he got no degrees, not that I would hold that against him. Neither did Mr. Truman nor Lincoln. He was an editor in Grand Rapids for 22 years and he has been in the senate for 20 years.

Who else have we had? We had, pray for us, Joe Davies, flapping his wattles and scratching gravel among the snickering Muscovites as the husband of the richest woman in the world.

Vending Machine Business Zooms

Guest Just at Mealtime? Novel Slot Device Will Feed Him.

NEW YORK.—Within four years the coin machine industry will soar to an annual volume of two billion dollars, in the opinion of Robert Z. Greene, president of National Automatic Merchandising association.

With the aid of vending machines, he said, employed women will be able to do their laundry during the lunch hour and housewives can pick up emergency groceries without leaving their apartment building.

Other details included in Greene's predictions:

By 1952 there will be 2,300,000 coin-operated merchandising machines throughout the United States.

Daily sales of 10 cents a machine for penny and service devices, $1 for candy, $2.50 for carbonated beverages and $4 for cigarettes will account for a combined volume of $1,500,000,000.

Additional sales from devices such as vendors of stamps, coffee, milk, ice cream, sandwiches, insurance, and groceries "will bring the total sales from automatic merchandising to well over two billion dollars before 1952."

Groceries in Apartments.

Greene foresaw automatic merchandising in the grocery field as ultimately reaching an annual volume of 100 million dollars through installation of machines in apartment buildings.

"Most of these sales," he said, "would be plus sales that otherwise would not be made. Now if a housewife finds herself out of beans or rice when preparing dinner, she isn't apt to make a special trip to the grocery, but will do without it."

"Most items sold through vending machines are impulse sales that otherwise would be lost forever," and the proper location of the machine can give that impulse a profitable outlet.

Automatic merchandising some day will "bring to retail distribution the same advantages the machine age has brought to manufacturing and agriculture," Greene continued.

Forms Store Front.

He said a machine now on the drawing board will be able to form part of the store front at night, thus achieving late-hour operation and customer convenience without high costs.

"In England (prior to the war) there were over 200,000 cigarette machines that were rolled out in front of stores after the closing hour of tobacco shops."

"And today in Holland, Denmark, and Switzerland, where the food shortage is not as extreme, a variety of merchandise is sold in this manner," he said.

Turning back to the U. S., Greene concluded, "The war taught employers the value of vending machines in keeping employees on the job and increasing their efficiency."

"Even coin-operated washing machines are now used in some large plants to cut down absenteeism. Women employees can now bring their wash with them on Monday and do it during their lunch hour instead of staying home."

Demand for Penny Increases; Mint Assures Ample Supply

PHILADELPHIA.—The lowly penny is more in demand than ever what with odd-cent prices, sales taxes, slot machines and the like, but the U. S. mint assures there are coppers enough to fill all needs.

Supt. Edwin H. Dressel says: "We have more one-cent pieces than the nation can handle and we're now making about 250,000 daily."

He adds there are 97,786,000 pennies in the vaults.

In 1946, the mint here coined 991,655,000 pennies. In the first 10 months of 1947, the total was 171,880,000 "and we're not getting rid of all those," Dressel said.

Backaches, leg pains, broken sleep, painful passages usually go so much quicker if you switch to Foley (the new kidney-bladder) Pills. They stimulate sluggish kidneys; then ALLAY BLADDER IRRITATION. That's the cause of most pains, aches, urges once thought entirely due to kidneys. So for quicker, longer-lasting relief, soothe bladder as well as stimulate kidney action. Do this: use Foley (the new kidney-bladder) Pills; they also have direct sedative-like action on bladder. At your druggist. Unless you find them far more satisfactory, DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK.

Take My Word for It! By Frank Colby

WORDS TO WATCH

The word protein, "a major food element of animal products," is often heard as "PRO-teen," a pronunciation which has little sanction. The dictionary consensus and Standard American usage give to the word three syllables, thus: PRO-tee-in.

The companion word vitamin is pronounced: VY-tuh-min. An older spelling "vitamine," is now obsolete, although a few dictionaries carry it as a second choice. It was variously pronounced "VY-tuh-meen, VIT-uh-meen, VY-tuh-myn," none of which are now good usage. Use the spelling "vitamin" and pronounce it: VY-tuh-min.

Marijuana (also spelled marihuana) is often heard as "Mary Wahna." It is an American Spanish word of uncertain origin. In Latin America one sees several spellings: "mariguana, marihuana, marixuana, marijuana." However, it now seems fairly certain that in the United States the spelling "marijuana" widely prevails.

In pronunciation the word is strongly flavored by the Spanish, which is: MAH-ree-HWAH'nah. In best American usage the first three syllables are like Spanish; in the fourth the "a" is obscured, thus: MAH-ree-HWAH'nuh.

Tryon: Please give the correct pronunciation of Riviera (Mediterranean coast).—Mrs. D. H. T.

Answer: The name Riviera loosely designates the Mediterranean coast from Cannes, France, to La Spezia, Italy. The French Riviera is usually called Cote d'Azur (azure coast). The French pronunciation of Riviera is: reev-yair-AH. The Italians call it: reev-YAIR-ah. In Standard American Riviera is pronounced: ri-vee-AIR-uh. But American dictionaries are slow in giving it sanction.

Atomic Danger Zone Posted For Tests on New Weapons

WASHINGTON.—The atomic energy commission has posted a "Danger—Keep Out" notice covering 39,000 square miles of the Pacific ocean surrounding Eniwetok atoll, site of forthcoming "tests of military weapons."

"Hazards will exist" in a rectangular area approximately 173 miles long and 226 miles east-west, the commission said.

Durable All-Weather Dog House

If you would like to make your dog comfortable in all kinds of weather, build this durable dog house. You don't have to know anything about carpentry or need a lot of different tools. The pattern offered below takes all the mystery out of constructing the dog house illustrated.

The pattern contains a complete purchase list of materials. It specifies stock size lumber readily available at most every lumber yard. Each piece of the dog house is cut according to the printed pattern and assembled as step by step directions indicate. All directions are written in language everyone can understand. Printed assembly illustrations indicate exactly where to nail each piece and size of nails to use.

In building this dog house the floor platform is first constructed and the sides are built independently. The walls are then raised and it is ready for construction of the roof. An unusual feature of this house is the interior partition which keeps out the cold winds. It has a removable end which can be taken out in warm weather and replaced with a screen.

Building useful household articles out of lumber can provide a lot of fun and relaxation. The pattern method is very easy to follow. Each pattern has been designed so that any unskilled person can build the project in very little time. The projects offered each week are unique in design and have been tested sufficiently to prove their worthiness.

Mr. Gillis Argues For New Building On Main Street

Walter A. Gillis, the incoming chairman of the Board of Selectmen, prepared his views on a Municipal building vs. a new School Wing in the following signed article sent The Pilot Wednesday:

"Almost anywhere you go you can hear arguments for and against building at the high school or building one centralized building. In my estimation, one centralized municipal building for everyone, not a chosen few, has more good points than bad points.

"One large centralized building containing all our wants would settle this long hashed-over problem. Why not a building to make room for a fire house (which will raise another dispute at Town Meeting), police station, housing for town equipment and town offices? That's not all, when plays are held, town meetings come up, our long loved basketball season rolls round, we'd meet in a building of which we could be proud. Another question is location. Well, for one thing the high school is too remote to the town, and certainly the town's people don't want to walk way up there! The question of parking has come up. During the years our Town Hall has been on Main street, there certainly have been too few cars to go to the expense of a parking area.

Franklin Dept. Store
John W. Nesbitt, Prop.
Newmarket, N. H.

"What is your idea? How about one building for all of us, not a chosen few, to enjoy now and in the years to come. If you are going to spend your money spend it where it will do you the most good.

"We need adequate housing facilities for: Police car, municipal court, fire house, police station, town officers, two equipment (which costs dollar for dollar as much as unit of equipment you buy), and athletic activities, not so remote to the town as some people would have it.
