The annual Penny Circus will be held at the Newmarket Municipal playground Monday afternoon with games of skill and guessing, side-shows, clowns, pop corn and tonic for the little folks. The pennies which are collected over and above the expenses will be used for the trip to Benson's Animal Farm with which the playground officials plan to climax the season.

A costume parade was the special feature this week with 50 entries including children dressed in elaborate silks and tattered cottons, black faces, nursery book characters, nationality costumes, hoboes and blind men.

The judges awarded major prizes to Gertrude Michaud, best in "Fancy" dress group; Dress and Sunney Shaw, as Dutch twins, the "most original"; Leslie Dolbin, as Miss Newmarket, the "most beautiful"; Elaine Renner, as Little Bo-

Peep, best in "old fashion" group; Albert Stevens, a blackface tramp, best boys' costume; Connie Johnson, an "old lady", most comical.

The judges were Mrs. Doris Holt, Mrs. Loretta Mitchell and Mrs. Frances Nesbit. Every child who participated received some award. Marbles and lollipops were used for those not winning major prizes.

Representative Merrow is including the Lee engagement in a series of nine addresses he is giving in this area in about a month's time. He plans to hammer home the theme that the United States should give itself for a strong stand against World Communism.

"Our air force should be developed immediately into a striking force without an equal," Merrow said today, pointing to the slight point in his own foreign policy platform which calls for this nation to achieve "atomic supremacy and air supremacy at all costs."

"Our relations with Soviet Russia are growing worse daily," said Merrow, a foreign affairs committee member. "Congress should face this fact and do something about it before too late." Merrow previously had advocated a special session of Congress this fall to act on the Marshall plan for economic rehabilitation of Europe.

Is Black Bear A "Berry" Story?

Conservation officer, Len Hill of Durham was interviewed in The Pilot's story about the black bear vacationing in the neighborhood and in the streets he picked up on the street about 11. While he does not doubt the evidence reported by a large number of persons, he says he would like to see the big fellow himself, or see some of the tracks.

Mr. Hill claims that reports of black bears are heard annually during the blue berry season and have come to be known as "blueberry" stories.

He did say, however, that two deer have been accidentally killed lately by automobiles, one in Lee and one in Stratham.

An arising well will be drilled at the wedding home on Bay road.

OPERATION SNOWDROP REHEARSAL . . . Floating snowdrops, in the form of paratroopers of the famous 82nd airborne division, fill the sky in a rehearsal of paratroopers and air units for "operation snowdrop," cold weather maneuvers to be held this winter at Pine Camp, N. Y. The men are being dropped from Fairchild C-52 packet transports of the 316th troop carrier group. The 82nd and 316th were teamed up before—when they carried out operations in Sicily, Normandy and Holland.

THE IRISH IN HER . . . Weary of waiting for official housing projects to get under way in Belfast, Ireland, Mrs. Joseph Close manfully shoulders a load and totes bricks as she helps her husband build their own house.

GOOD OLD SKATE . . . "America's oldest and best known roller skater" is Pop Carter, who admits to being a neat 90. He has given exhibitions in every state and 13 foreign countries and has been a professional skater for 32 years.

CAVE MAN . . . John T. Hurn of Nashville, Tenn., wanted publicity. So he "disappeared" in a Tennessee cave. State police, cave explorers and boy scouts searched the cavern for 10 days trying to find his body.

ROYAL BETROTHAL . . . Princess Elizabeth of England appears radiantly happy in this picture as she walks with her bridegroom-to-be, Lt. Philip Mountbatten, former prince of Greece, following the formal announcement of their engagement by King George VI. The princess wears the three-diamond engagement ring given her.

RECRUITER RECRUITED . . . For six months, John R. Banta Jr. (left), machinist's mate first class, staunchly did his duty recruiting for the navy in the San Pedro, Calif., federal building. But somewhere along the line he lost faith in his own sales talk and became easy prey for M/Sgt. Earl Love (right), who high-pressured him into resigning his navy rank to join the army as a technical sergeant. This, at least, is one example of how the services can be unified.

Museum Traces 'Family Tree' Of Shaggy-Haired Plains Bison

WNU Features.

LINCOLN, NEB.—The "family tree" of the Great Plains bison is being given its first geologically scientific appraisal by the University of Nebraska state museum. Research completed in the past eight years reveals that ancestors of the shaggy-haired creatures, which in the 19th century numbered millions and drew hunters from over the world to the plains of Kansas and Nebraska, first came to North America about 500,000 years ago. That was when the second of the three big glaciers of the Ice Age was retreating from the northern Great Plains.

Dr. C. B. Schultz, museum director, and W. D. Frankforter, assistant curator of paleontology of the

But they increased in numbers rapidly as the climate began warming up, and more food was made available to the growing herds. But about 20,000 years ago a human civilization, apparently a race of hunters, migrated from Asia to this continent, and the numbers of bison were greatly reduced. These tribes, however, suddenly disappeared museum, report that their studies thus far indicate two unusual tendencies in evolution of the bison.

BISON'S 'FAMILY TREE' . . . First comprehensive study of the Great Plains bison's lineage is being made by University of Nebraska state museum from its collection of buffalo skeletal remains. The large skull and horns (foreground) are 500,000 years old and belong to the first type of bison to roam the Great Plains area. The skull at left is 30,000 years old while the one at right is a 1,000-year-old buffalo, nearly the same as the present type seen in parks and zoos. Dr. C. B. Schultz, director of the museum, is on the left, with W. D. Frankforter, assistant curator of paleontology, at right.

First, the great granddaddy of them all who came to this continent from Asia was characterized mainly by huge horns which averaged 60 inches from tip to tip. But the body of this creature, known scientifically as "superbison," was less than a foot taller and a foot longer than the present buffalo. Succeeding generations showed only one significant change: size of the horns. They steadily shrank to today's average of 23 inches from tip to tip. The body remained nearly the same.

Second, the bison, unlike other prehistoric animals found in North America such as elephants, rhinos, horses and camels, first appeared on our continent as a large animal and decreased in size.

The University of Nebraska scientists also believe, on the basis of present studies, that the bison population has had its "ups and downs." The first bison, they say, apparently was relatively few in numbers since only a few scattered skeletal remains have been found thus far in Kansas and Nebraska.

from the Great Plains for reasons which are still a mystery to scientists. After their disappearance, however, bison herds staged a comeback.

The herds gained steadily in size, even after appearance of the early Indians in the Great Plains region. But with the coming of the white man, the bison all but disappeared from the continent.

The research work now under way at University of Nebraska is expected to take at least five more years to complete.

Clothes to Be Made From Protein of Soybean Oil

Because of superior methods for extracting soybean oil, which were developed in this country, soybean oil meal became available which was extremely rich in protein and in which the protein had not been ruined by too much heat or improper processing techniques. This provided a low cost protein that could be readily extracted, purified, dried, stored and put in a form practical for an industrial raw material, according to Robert A. Boyer of the Soybean Research Council.

Considerable work was undertaken to make this protein suitable for the manufacture of a fiber, the first protein fiber to be made commercially that does not stem from an animal origin. This fiber has been produced for several years on a pilot plant basis. Now a plant is being built to produce the soybean fiber in large volume.

As a result of this work, the textile industry has found that fabrics made from a blend of soybean fiber and rayon or cotton are practical and of unique quality. The Federal Trade Commission, recognizing the potential and increasing importance of man-made protein fibers, has adopted for them the generic name "astion," following the same pattern of using the word "rayon" for all man-made cellulose fibers.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Fruit Preserving

This is the year many women have waited for—the year when they could obtain unlimited quantities of sugar to put up all the fruit in their orchards, and berries in their patches.

For many of us, it has been so long since we put up fruit in any quantity that a quick brush-up of methods is essential. As in all big undertakings, the underlying organizational work is most important, and this can be done the day before.

The day before you begin actual canning, check on equipment to be sure that it works properly. For fruit and berry canning you will need a water bath, which may be a large kettle or broiler, fitted with a rack, and a tightly fitting cover. Or, you also may use a pressure cooker for processing, but this is not as essential for fruits as it is for vegetables.

You will need several large pans and kettles for preparing the fruit and for making the syrup. You also will need to prepare jars, checking them for cracks and imperfections, and washing them in hot soapy suds. Make certain you have enough covers or lids.

Estimating Amounts

Although fruits and berries vary in size and moisture content, it is still possible to make some sort of estimate as to how much syrup and the number of jars you will need.

For sweet fruits, you will use a syrup made of 2 cups of sugar to 4 cups of water; for slightly acid fruit, use 2 cups of sugar to 3 cups of water; for acid fruit, 2 cups of sugar to 2 cups of water is ample. If the fruit is very acid, 2 cups of sugar to 1 cup of water is essential.

The syrup is made simply by adding the sugar to the water and boiling together for 5 minutes.

If you are canning large fruits such as peaches and pears, allow 1 pint of syrup to a quart jar of fruit. For small fruit, or berries, you will need only a half pint of syrup to the quart.

The amount of fruit usually depends upon the size, but ordinarily we count 2 pounds of fruit for the quart jar. This will aid in estimating your yield.

Method of Packing

Some fruits and berries are hot-packed, but most women prefer using the cold pack method for preparing fruit for canning as it takes less time. If the fruit is carefully packed, there will be little floating.

Wash and clean the fruit, peeling and coring, slicing and stoning when necessary. Pack into sterile jars and attach the lid, using manufacturers' directions.

Process by placing the fruits in a boiling water bath, making certain that the water comes to two inches above the jars. If the water tends to boil away during the processing time, it's a good idea to have a kettle of holling water near by from which the supply can be readily replenished.

Count the processing time from the time the water starts boiling.

When processing time is finished, remove jars (with a jar lifter to prevent burning the fingers) and place on thick layers of newspaper to cool.

For many of the new type lids, the manufacturer does not approve inverting the jar to test for leaks.

This is one reason for not inverting certain types of jars.

When the jars are cool, wipe them off, label and store in a cool, dark place.

Use This Time Table

If you are using the water bath, which is recommended by most experts, you will want to observe the processing time very carefully. The following fruits are processed for 20 minutes: apricots, blackberries, blueberries, cherries, currants, gooseberries, peaches, pears, plums, raspberries, rhubarb and strawberries.

Apples and pineapple, processed in the same type of water bath, will require 30 minutes, while quinces require 35 minutes.

If you are using the pressure cooker for processing, keep the indicator between 5 and 10 pounds pressure and process all fruits, except pineapple and quinces, for 10 minutes. The two exceptions will require 15 minutes processing.

Queries Answered.

How high should fruit be packed for canning? Pack fruit and syrup to within one inch of the top.

How much salt should be added to water in which peeled fruit is placed to prevent discoloration? Add one teaspoon of salt to each quart of water used.

What makes fruit and tomatoes float? Too much processing, too heavy a syrup or too loose a pack may be the causes.

Why should fruit for canning be uniform in size and ripeness? Fruit should be evenly ripe and about the same size so that processing will be equal.

Can I can over-ripe fruit? No, it's too difficult to get a good product. Use over-ripe fruit and berries for fruit butters, as the fruit will have to be mashed and there is enough sugar to act as a preservative.

LYNN SAYS: Save Time, Work, Money With These Hints

Lettuce leaves tossed into soup will absorb fat and give you less greasy soup to serve. Remove leaves as soon as they take up fat.

Before you grill bacon, steaks or chops, cut gases in the fat. This prevents the meat from curling when it is cooked.

Bits of soap make nice jelly which is lovely to use for shampoo, or for washing lingerie, gloves, hose and other delicate things.

To prevent mold from forming on smoked meats such as bacon, ham and sausage, dip a cloth in vinegar and wrap around the meat. Store in the refrigerator.

Use fruit juices for soaking and cooking dried fruits. It will give them better flavor as well as more food value.

Cheese stays moist if it is covered with a thin coating of butter before being stored in the refrigerator. Cheese which has hardened and cannot be sliced should be ground and used in grated form.

Plants react to a mechanical speedup just as hens do. Turn a sun lamp on them at night and they will grow faster. But the Smithsonian Institution has found that plants like to change from light to dark. By switching the light on and then off at intervals they induced plants to grow twice as fast as under continual light.

NEWMARKET BASEBALL

 Twi-league as they edged out the Rams 7 to 6 in a hard-fought contest on July 22.
 Both clubs picked up seven hits and battled on near even terms and still left doubt in the minds of local fans as to which is the better club.

 The Polishers fielded their strongest aggregation of the season and jumped into a 3 to 0 lead but the Rams fought back to score two runs in the second and fourth to take a 4 to 3 lead.

Plenty of arguments on both sides marred the game and prevented it from going the full route and the last two innings were played in semi-darkness neither giving or asking any quarter.

The Club broke loose in the sixth and scored four runs to apparently sew up the ball game. J. Pohopek grounded to Pelletier but a wild throw to first and Pohopek was on second. D. Pohopek singled and Jakubowski hit Djedjic on the shoulder to fill the bases. Homiak struck out and Haley promptly doubled home two runs and the Club led 5-4. Piasnik reached on a fielders' choice as he grounded to the pitcher and the play was made at the plate, but the catcher dropped the ball as he was hit. Gruchmal grounded out, Sharples reached on the Rams' second error, another run scoring. Zocchi was hit by a pitched ball to fill the bases but J. Pohopek struck out with the Polishers leading 7 to 4.

In the last of the sixth, Jakubowski singled after one was out and Homiak walked. G. Mongeon and Pelletier to fill the bases as the tension increased. Dostie singled scoring Jakubowski making it 7-5. St. Pierre was called out on strikes and C. Mongeon walked forcing in G. Mongeon and making the score 7-6. Labranche grounded out to Haley for the final out.

Rams Bounce Back

The Rams bounced back from their Polish club defeat and nosed out the Independents 4 to 3 in the best played game of the season on July 23.

Dostie made his mound debut and allowed but three hits, all on the ground.

Both sides scored twice in the first inning and the Independents took a 3 to 2 lead in the third as Pohopek beat a bunt to third and was sacrificed to second. Flynn grounded to Dostie and Pohopek was trapped at third base. Burnham walked and Jordan singled home Flynn with the tie breaking run.

The Rams came back to tie it up again in the fourth when after one was out, G. Mongeon singled and stole second, Pelletier advanced him to third as he reached on an error. Mongeon then scored on St. Pierre's grounder to second.

Dostie held the Independents in check as his teammates filled the bases in the fifth and sixth but couldn't score. Flynn gave way to Jablonski on the mound in the fifth because of a sore arm.

In the seventh, after two men were out, and the crowd relaxed, Jelletier poled out a long double to left center and St. Pierre hit the first pitch through the box to score Pelletier and win the ball game 4 to 3.

Score by innings:
 Rams 2 0 0 1 0 0 1 4
 Independents 2 0 1 0 0 0 0 3

Batteries — Rams: Dostie and Deshaies; Independents: Flynn, Jablonski and Burnham.

Am. Legion Ekes Win

The American Legion had to go all out to eke a 3 to 7 win over a surprisingly strong rejuvenated Newfields nine. The game rounded out a week of very good twi-league baseball in Newmarket.

Newfields came up with a new battery of Copp and Williams but the Legion jumped them for 6 runs in the first two innings. Williams got stronger as the game got under way.

After the Legion had taken a 7 to 3 lead at the end of three innings, Newfields scored two runs in the fourth on Wiggin's single and two more in the fifth on doubles by E. Smith and Copp and an error to tie up the game 7-7.

Records who had started on the mound for the Legion was relieved by Bernard who then held Newfields in check.

The Legion scored the tie-breaking game-winning tally in the last of the fifth when after one was out, Fewless singled and Webb stroked a double to center.

Henzel pounded out a single.

Early Groom Furnished Bride With Security Gifts

The custom of giving wedding presents probably arose in the earliest days of marriage-by-purchase when the Anglo-Saxon groom furnished his bride with "wed" or security gifts—animals for stall or stable or trinkets for her adornment—in token of his intention to fulfill their engagement. Later came the "bridal bidding" the forerunner of our "shower."

The most popular bridal present in the time of Elizabeth was a pair of knives (a pair of scissors to us) with which it was suggested the bride might cut the thread of love if her husband should prove untrue.

Mask Paint Odors

Deodorants that take the smell out of fresh paint are being produced by a New York firm. The chemicals can be added to oil or water paints, enamels and lacquers, and, it is claimed, neutralize or mask the odors as the paint is applied and dries, without affecting the color, drying time or other qualities of the paint. The chemicals themselves have a faint pine or cedar odor which disappears when the paint is dry.

Minute Make-Ups By GABRIELLE

The Shoulder Clips and Pins are moving to the wastebasket. That's the new "fashion location." Use a few eared spray instead of a tuckie. Hollywood still likes flowers in the hair for evening, but more often now the flowers are being worn at the waist.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its busy and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's buy the kidneys to ward off bacterial action, break waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Ask your pharmacist for Doan's Pills.

BOBBY SOX

By Marty Links

"Well, make up your mind Bruce—DO you or DON'T you love me?"

ALL AT ONCE

The absent-minded bum was crossing the street when a speeding auto hit him. Ten minutes later, an ambulance arrived. A young interne examined the injured man and shook his head gravely.

"Your head is cut open," he stated. "I'm afraid I'll have to take six or seven stitches."

The bum nodded weakly. "Okay," he said. "And while you're at it, would you mind sewing a button on my vest?"

They Start Young

Angus McTavish watched his small son going upstairs, three steps at a time.

"Why are you taking such long steps, son?" he asked.

"To save wearing out the carpet," the boy replied.

"Good boy," replied Angus, "but don't split your trousers doing it!"

Man or Rat?

Tough Guy—Hey, you, gimme some cheese!

Waitress—Want it in a sandwich or a trap?

High Pressure

"IF YOU didn't want to marry the widow," asked the lawyer, "why did you propose?"

"That's just it," answered his client. "She proposed to me."

"Why didn't you turn her down?"

"I couldn't. She worded her proposal very cleverly . . . she said: 'Will you marry me? Have you any objection?' Thus, whether I said yes or no, she had me."

"Not at all, not at all. You should have preserved a discreet silence."

"That's what I did but she fell into my arms, murmuring that silence gave consent."

A Rig Help

An absent-minded passenger was strap-hanging on a bus. His left arm clasped a half-dozen bundles. He swayed to and fro. Slowly his face took on a look of apprehension. Noting this, a young man standing beside him said, "Can I help you, sir?"

"Yes," said the man with relief, "hold on to this strap while I get my fare out."

Weather to Order

Madam—Have you been touching the barometer, Mary?
Mary—Yes'm. It's my night out so I set it for fine.

Dreary Prospect

The man-about-town had been alling of late and decided to mend his ways, and then went and visited his doctor. He was told to give up wine, women and song.

He then inquired: "Will I live to be a hundred then, Doc?"

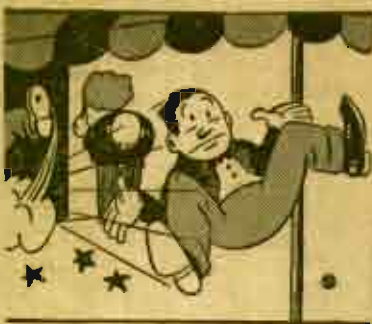

"No," the doctor replied, "but it will seem like it."

By J. Millar Watt

POP

CLASSY BOUNCING

Bill—What happened after you were thrown out the back door of the bar?

Bob—I told the waiter I belonged to a very prominent family.

Bill—So what?

Bob—So, he begged my pardon, asked me in again and threw me out the front door.

MORNING AGAIN

"I hope I haven't kept you up too late," said the tiresome guest.

"Oh, not at all," replied the polite host. "We would have been getting up soon, anyway."

With Sound Effects

While visiting in France, the Italian composer, Rossini, learned that a group of wealthy admirers planned to have a statue erected in his honor.

"How much will it cost?" he inquired.

"Ten million francs," was the reply.

Rossini, who was poverty-stricken at the time, chuckled. "How extravagant," he said. "For five million, I'll stand on the pedestal myself."

OVER-EMPHASIS

A blushing young woman handed the telegraph clerk a telegram, containing only a name, address and one word, "Yes."

Wishing to be helpful, the clerk said: "You know, you can send 10 words for the same price."

"I know I can," replied the young woman, "but don't you think I'd look too eager if I said it 10 times?"

Made Him Cough Up

Walking along the street, a man was attracted by screams coming from a house. He ran to investigate and found a frantic mother whose son had swallowed a nickel. Seizing the boy by the heels, he held him up, gave him a few shakes and the coin dropped out. The grateful mother was lost in admiration.

"You certainly knew how to get it out of him," she said. "Are you a doctor?"

"No, madam, I am from the Internal Revenue bureau."

Good Money

"Here's that suit I bought from you last week," said the angry customer. "You said you would return my money if it was not satisfactory."

"That's what I said," replied the merchant politely, "but I am happy to tell you that I found your money entirely satisfactory."

Careless Lovers

"Dear Clara," wrote the young man, "pardon me, but I'm getting so forgetful. I proposed to you last night but I've really forgotten whether you said yes or no."

"Dear Will," she replied, "so glad to hear from you. I knew I said no to somebody last night but had forgotten who it was."

SAME OLD BIRDS

Nervous Lady (as large bird flies over ship)—Oh, Captain, is that an omen?

Captain—No, madame. That is a sea gull.

Nice Company!

A minister came upon a member of his flock going home a little unsteady, and gave him a helping hand. Pressed to enter the house, the minister demurred. "Come on in, man," he was urged, "come in and let the good wife see who I've been with tonight."

Could Be Worse

"Quick, doctor, do something—Junior swallowed his mouth organ."

"Keep calm, lady, and be thankful he wasn't playing a piano."

A NEAT TRICK

Man (at police station)—Could I see the burglar who broke into our house last night?

Sergeant—Why do you want to see him?

Man—I'd like to ask him how he got in without waking my wife.

REG'LAR FELLERS

With Taxes and All

The tourist had stopped to change tires. "I suppose," he remarked to a native on-looker, "that in these isolated parts the necessities of life come pretty high."

"Yer right, stranger," the native replied gloomily, "an' it ain't worth drinkin' when ye git it."

Silent Sassing

Mr.—I'm not arguing with you! Mrs.—No, but you were listening in a very unpleasant manner!

Just For Riding

A woman returned a smart pair of shoes to the exclusive shop where she had purchased them. "They won't do," she announced. "I simply can't walk in them."

"Madam," the clerk replied looking down his nose, "people who have to walk don't shop here."

Serious Defect

"There's only one thing wrong with me, Blondie, I'm color blind." "You'll sho' must be, mistah."

News From Our Merchants

A new shop opened in Dover this week where one may have plastic, illuminated signs made to order by Peter M. Haasen, owner of the business and a man with wide experience in this field. He is formerly of Exeter. In addition to signs, he offers a good selection in business decorative lamps, claiming that no order is too big or too little for him to handle.
